THE democracy of New York means to win next November a democratic victory so unmistakable that nobody will fail to understand that it is just that, and noths ing else.

Suouan railway sleepers be made of wood or metal? This was discussed at the railway congress at Brussels. It was shown that iron and steel were not only more expensive than wood and needed better ballast, but also that what was adapted to one country would not do at all in another. In India the white ant destroyed wood, in Egypt the sand corroded iron.

A DISPATCH from Halifax Court House, Va., tells of the death and funeral of an old negro known as Uncle Ben, who has voted the democratic ticket ever since the war. It was Uncle Ben's dying request that no republican should be permitted to "throw dirt on his coffin," and at his desire eight white men acted as pall bearers at his funeral. It seems that he had been ostracized by the blacks because of his democratic proclivities-a fact that ought to suggest to John Sherman a new kind of investigation.

Tax officials who planned the late transfer of coin by sea from New Orleans probably drew a breath of relief when the Yantic and Swatara, with their precious freight of $10,400,000 in silver, arrived safely at Washington. About the time of last week's gale they were coming up the coast not far south of where the Haron was wrecked in years cone by upon the dangerous coast near Hatteras. Hereafter this method of transferring the governments specie may become too familiar to attract much notice.

Tipe Pail Matt Gazette says that a young gentleman of Leicester decided to go to California and learn fruit farming. He fell in with a circular of a seemingly respectable London firm, offering to place gentlemen's sons as pupils on farms round Los Angeles. The terms were $100, in consideration of which the pupil was to be taken to a farm, boarded, and taught fruitgrowing in all its branches, and receive $5 a month for three or six months. The $100 was paid, but there was no agent to meet the young man at Los Angeles. The latter, having fortunately found the agent's address, applied to him for the fulfillment of the contract, but was derisively dismissed. The Young Men's Christian association took the case orchidmania will be the sale of the wonup and compelled the agent to fulfill the derful collection of the late Mrs. Charles contract.

Wires a man dies he becomes great. There appears to be an impression that the late Emory A. Storrs said every cute thing that has been said since Douglas Jerrold, and every wise thing since Solomon potentated with the aid of his innu- who ever requires an appetizer, tonic or merable wives. It is a natural conclusion that death is profit; but let not the reader of these lines hasten his demise on that account we do assure bim that he is apt isfaction or money refunded. "Danny Andrews," as he is called in Saratoga, where he has been a visitor for tifty years, is one of the few types remaining in this country of the ancient beau, say the Boston Budget. He is still as careful in his dress as in the past, and has attempted with the use of dyes and cosmetics to stay the ravages of time. $1.00. He dresses in clothes several sizes too large to conceal the leanness of his figure. His coat and waistcoat are of a dark blue and of an old fashioned cut. The coat has enormous pockets on the hips. His the rheumstism completely disappeared. wide frousers are of a rough grey materist. He invriably carries a pair of white gloves in his left hand. He has plenty of money, but is not inclined to be very sociable. He is generally content to sit quiet, observing the crowds as they pass, doubtless living over again in his memory his gallant conquests of the past.

PAINTERS who represent angels floating in the air with small wings, may make a charming picture, but it is sadiy unscientific. To carry the body of even a small woman, weighing say 100 pounds, would require a machine having at least four horse power, as one horse power would be required to move 25 pounds. This would require wings, supposing we had the machine to work them, of enormous size. The birds found far out at sea known as Mother Cary's chickens, seem to be large, but when killed and the body stripped of feathers, it is not much larger than a canary bird. And so of all birds capable of extended flight. Man's strength it is estimated, would have to be increased some thirtyfold before be could fly, and A complete collection of American then he would be forced to confine hims; cents is worth $1,500. self to dead calm weather. Currents of air have often a velocity of twenty miles an hour, a fact which shows how mighty must be the power man must command before he can baunch himself upon the air and compete with even the slowest birds; yet it seems to be settled by scient ists that air navigation must be by means of flight-that gas can never solve the problem. There must be an extremely powerful motor, and some apparatus that will do the same service for man that Cough Syrup is looked upon as the stan feathers and wings do for birds.

NON-COMMITTAL DR. BURCHARD.

Rev. Dr. Burchard was asked the other day what he thought of the republican state ticket in New York. Dr. Burchard buried his face in his hands for several moments, and then, after looking out of his parlor window for nearly a minute. said: "I have no opinion to express."
After another pause, he added: "You see am not a politician, and take no active interest in politics. Of course, I read the papers and vote, but that is about all So I don't believe my opinion would interest any one.' was reminded that the prominent part he took in the Blaine campaign might make such an opinion of interest. Well, I have given the matter hardly any thought or deliberation," he added. 'as all I know is what I have read in the newspapers. My private opinion is that it is an excellent ticket."

During the spring of 1884 her lower extremities became so inflamed and sore that she was obliged to keep them constantly coaled with a covering of "Fuller's Earlia" mixed wet and all lowed to dry on. Among other things she was efficied with a periodical nervous headache, occurring regularly every seven days, sometimes followed by an intermittent fever for weeks at a time, so that her life became a burdento her. This spring I determined she should take 8, 8, 8 and f. How strictly the directions in regard to dose, diet, etc. This was about seven weeks ago. After taking the first large bodde the disease seemed to increase; the burning, itching and he ammation became unbearable. She, however, persevered in the nee of the medicine. After taking the first large budde the After the thirt bodde the inflammation disappeared, and were speed sired up and turned white mad sealy and finally she brashed them of Isappeare, and sore spots dried up and autre-while and scally, and finally she brashed them on an impalpable white possible tracked them on an impalpable white possible tracked them of sail. She is now taking the sixth bottle, three is the spoonfu's of our times daily. Every appear-ture of the disease has gone, and her fless is be oming soil, write and smooth again; and what acte, her periodical headaches have disappeare and she is now, at 55 years of age, enjoying it may good health see has known for apparent of 9 years.
